REVOLT! 2026 · POST-EVENT · OCT 14

RevOps is now capability engineering.

What changes when the job is giving the org capabilities, not reports.

Tom Andrews & Chad Boersma

Airspeed · virtual fireside, Airspeed-sponsored session

THE SAME FUNCTION, TWO JOB DESCRIPTIONS

Orchestrator → capability engineer

	THEN	NOW
OWNS	Dashboards and reports	A shared context + data layer
DAY JOB	Chasing reps, CRM validation rules	Definitions, governance, SQL
SHIPS	A report someone reads	A safe place to build agents
DONE WHEN	The dashboard refreshes	Same question, same number, for anyone

Source: Tom Andrews & Chad Boersma (Airspeed), Revolt! 2026 (RevGenius), Oct 14 2026

WHY DEFINITIONS COME FIRST

One question. Five answers.

“How did marketing do last quarter?”

MQLS	FIRST-TOUCH	MULTI-TOUCH	LAST-TOUCH	WHICH OF 4 SOURCE FIELDS?
A	B	C	D	E

> Same data, five metrics, five numbers. One written definition in the context layer gives every agent and every person the same one.

Source: Chad Boersma's example, Revolt! 2026, Oct 14 2026 (illustrative, not a measured case)

TOM'S DIY ANSWER, FROM A SPONSOR SLOT

The stack a capability engineer runs

Harnesses

Claude, Slack, OpenAI, Gemini: where people and agents work

BOUGHT, OR SELF-BUILT

Context layer

How you sell, qualify, demo. Metric definitions. Navigation prompts.

REVOPS OWNS

Flexible database

Every tool piped in, governed. Tom's example: Supabase.

REVOPS OWNS

Your existing tools

Your CRM and everything else you already pay for

ALREADY BOUGHT

Source: Tom Andrews (Airspeed), Revolt! 2026, Oct 14 2026. Layer descriptions condensed by Alex Yedi.

HOW A CAPABILITY ENGINEER BUYS

The vendor checklist

SCORE

1. Release velocity
   How fast it ships
2. MCP depth
   Read the API docs first
3. Documentation
   Agents read it now

YELLOW FLAGS

- ! Heavy UI spend
  The surface is moving to the harness
- ! In-platform analytics
  Reporting runs through the LLM

CONTRACT TERMS

TRIAL	FIRST TERM	PROVEN BUILDING BLOCK
Monthly / POC	12 months	Up to 5 yrs

Source: Tom Andrews' rubric and contract practice; POC test from Chad Boersma. Revolt! 2026, Oct 14 2026