

Engineer the offer

GTM World Tour · New York · Stop 9 of 10

EUROPE · 7 STOPS

Amsterdam · Barcelona · Berlin · Dublin · London · Munich · Paris
Listed A–Z. European stop order not shown.

HOSTS

Roman Hipp
BetterContact

Nico Schell
Scalantec

TALKS

Eric Nowoslawski
Growth Engine X

Alex Lindahl
Clay

PANEL

Eric Lindahl
Jen
Gong

Where your outbound play actually sits

WARM

they already raised a hand

COLD

going about their day

WARM PLAYS

- Closed-lost re-engagement
- Demo-booking abandonment
- Engagers on your own posts
- Champion changes company
- Event follow-up
- Pre-event networking
- LinkedIn ad engagers
- Website visitor tracking

COLD PLAYS

- Mutual school / prior company
- Nearby location
- Recently hired / first hires
- Tech stack named in the JD
- Hiring for a role
- Your team's connections → direct intros
- Social keyword targeting ●
- Competitors' post engagers ●

● = cold, but behaves like warm

Most campaigns fail by sending a warm-traffic offer to cold traffic.

Build it after they say yes

01

TestParty audits

Accessibility audit per store
35,000 built (Eric's figure)

02

Reddit audits

Ad-comparison page per prospect

03

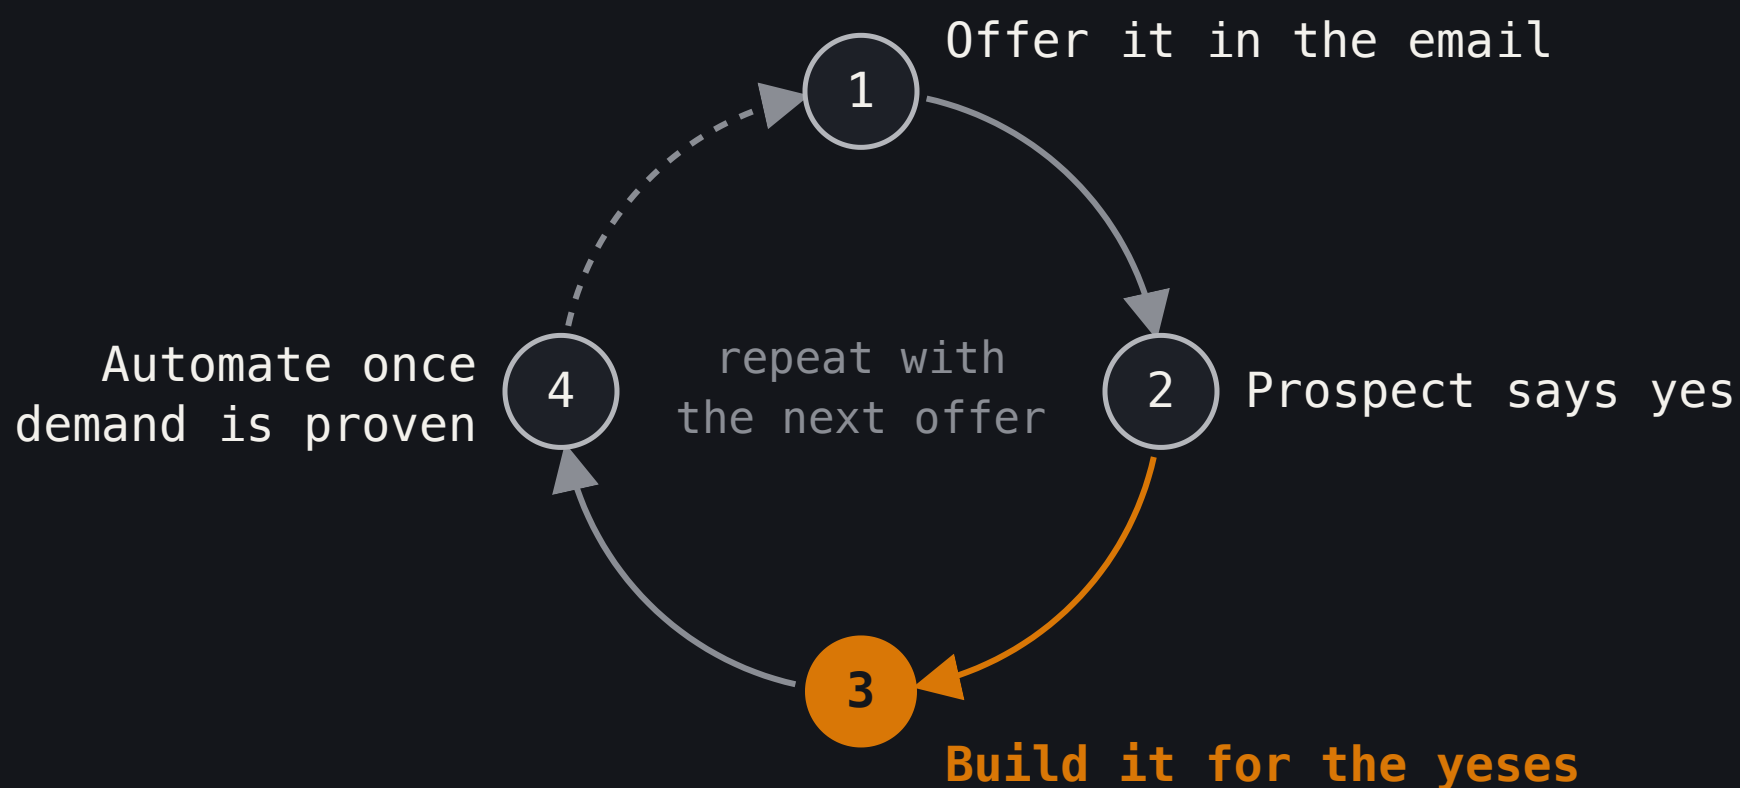

GTM hubs

3,500 ICP emails · 2,000
mobiles · 1,600 new hires, per prospect

04

2 free booked meetings

THE LOOP

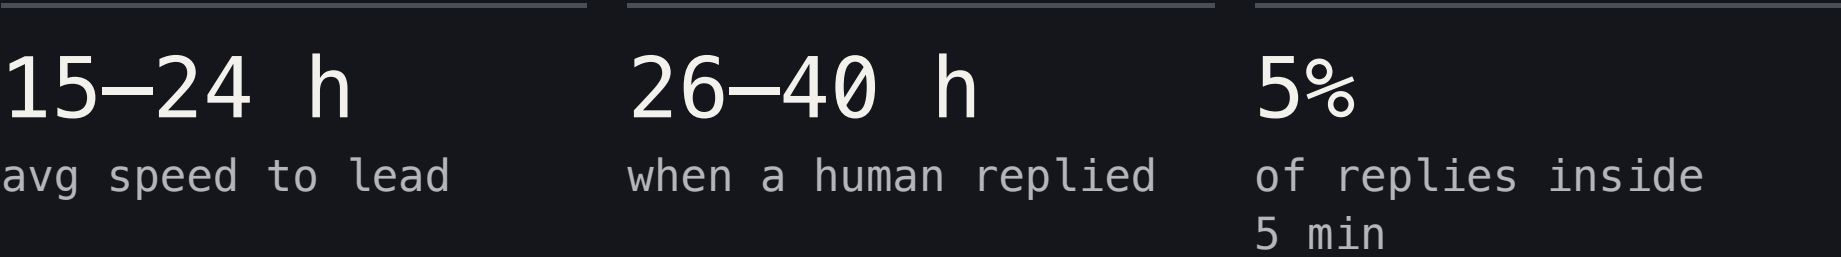

6,346 demo forms. Who wrote back?

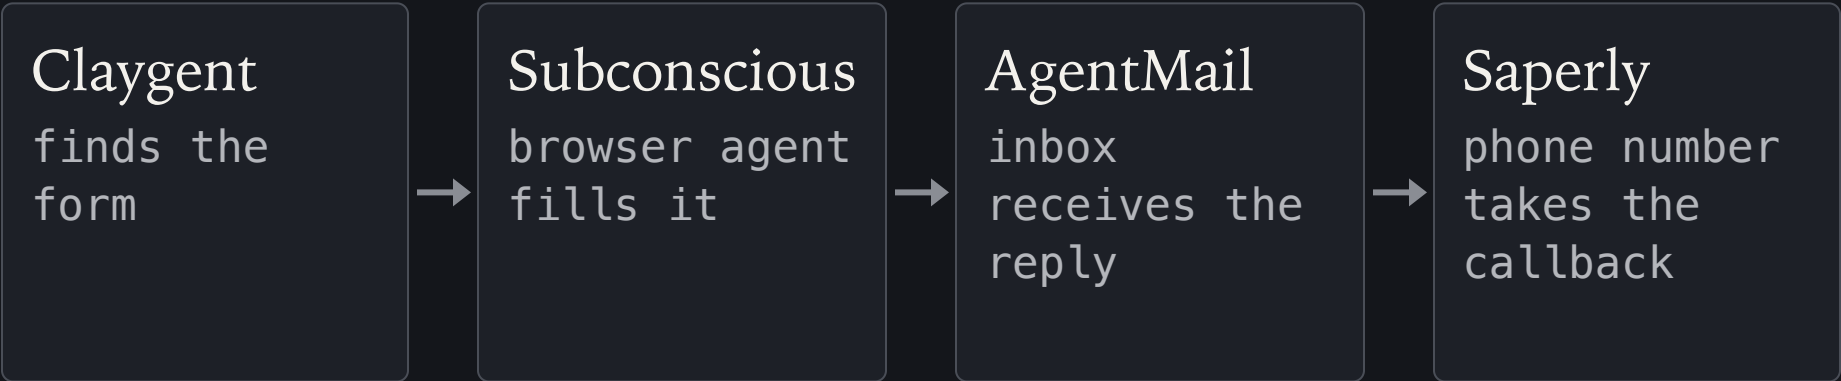

96%

of companies never called

4% called

HOW THE AGENTS POSED AS BUYERS

A secret shopper with its own inbox and phone.

Five tests for a cold offer

1 Make money STRONGEST

The buyer gets back more than they put in

2 New mechanism

A method they've never heard of

3 Insight

Something about their business they didn't know (an audit)

4 Hyper-research

Proof you studied them specifically

5 Relevant case study

Someone like them, a result like theirs

Built by grading the copy of every client that stayed 6+ months.